- 4. Statewide Data Repository Update
Dr. Paul Stiles, USF, Department of Mental Health Law & Policy Behind the scenes work has been completed. We must determine the data governance process. We need to clearly define things and know how access will be obtained. There also must be a public process established. We need to figure out what the capacities are at the universities to take on this kind of project, from both a technology security level and a scientific standpoint. We need to do a deeper dive into ongoing costs it would take to work with some of these larger data management companies and whether that would be sustainable long term. Confidentiality will also be a huge part of this rollout.
